When students study the history of the United States they learn about the American Revolution, the Founding Fathers, and the Constitution of the United States. In California, students also learn about Blessed Junipero Serra and the California Missions. However, to appreciate the greatness of this country we must include - and extend our gratitude to - the religious sisters and nuns who have blessed this land. Religious sisters have played a significant role in this country since the days of Columbus in the 15th century.

St. Rose Philippine Duchesne was born in France in 1769 and later joined the Religious Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. In 1818, Duchesne joined four other religious sisters and left the comfort of their homes to evangelize the Native Americans. With little more than the clothes on their back a lot of faith and courage they made their way to Missouri where they established the first free school west of the Mississippi.

In 1841, at the age of seventy-one, Duchesne was chosen by a Jesuit priest, Fr. Verhaegen, to lead a new mission in Kansas. Some questioned his choice of leaders because Duchesne lacked physical strength and the ability to speak the native language. However, Fr. Verhaegen explained: "Sr. Rose may not be able to do much work, but she will assure success to the mission by praying for us." Because of her prayerfulness, her students called her Quahkahkanumad, which means “Woman Who Prays Always”.

St. Elizabeth Ann Seton is a true daughter of the American Revolution, born August 28, 1774, just two years before the Declaration of Independence. Reared a staunch Episcopalian by her mother and stepmother, she learned the value of prayer, Scripture and a nightly examination of conscience. At 19, she married a wealthy business man and together they had five children. At 30, Elizabeth was widowed, penniless, with five small children to support. Having witnessed Catholicity in action through family friends she became a Catholic in 1805. This incredible woman and mother opened the first American parish school in Baltimore. She also founded the first American religious community for women, the Sisters of Charity and established the first American Catholic orphanage. She did all of this before dying at the age of 46. Elizabeth Ann Seton is honored as the first native born American to be canonized by the Catholic Church.

St. Elizabeth Ann Seton and St. Rose Philippine Duchesne are just two phenomenal women in a long list of other religious sisters like St. Francis Cabrini, St. Katharine Drexel, St. Kateri Tekakwitha, St. Marianne Cope and St. Mother Théodore Guérin who greatly blessed our country. Today we honor all religious sisters who are powerful examples of what it looks like to be “A House of Prayer and a House of the Poor.”
